JOLANDA "JO" JONES

IS LEADING THE FIGHT FOR HOUSTON HOMEOWNERS

When Hurricane Ike walloped Houston neighborhoods, Jo collaborated to find private donors to supply ice, water and debris removal.

Growing up in poverty in Houston's Third Ward, Jolanda "Jo" Jones wondered if she would ever be able to own her own home. Jo persevered to become a successful businesswoman, lawyer and homeowner—and she's using that same determination to stand up for every resident and homeowner in Houston.

▶ A CHAMPION FOR PROPERTY VALUES AND PROPERTY RIGHTS

Jo worked together with the Floodway Coalition of Houston to regain property rights and values for nearly 10,000 homeowners affected by unfair changes to the floodway ordinance.

▶ A CHAMPION FOR OUR NEIGHBORHOODS

Jo drafted and is working to pass a new ordinance to guarantee neighbors meaningful notice and a hearing on new development. She's standing up against out-of-scale development like the Ashby high rise and supports a deed restriction database that homebuyers can access online.

▶ A CHAMPION FOR OUR QUALITY OF LIFE

Jo sounded the alarm on a polluting business that posed a dangerous nuisance to neighbors, worked to shut down "hot sheet" motels operating close to neighborhoods and fought against unsightly billboards. When it comes to protecting our quality of life, Jo is a champion who will never give up and never give in.
